

New from Bauerfeind:
TRiactive

Our new insole concept for the special requirements of active people offers everything that the foot needs. The various foot zones need different insole functions to handle different impacts. Therefore we united three density zones into one insole.

Shock-absorbing zone – soft

Noticeably reduces the problems of pressure and impact points in the forefoot and metatarsal area.

Support zone – medium density

With its restoring force it provides excellent reaction coupled with a strong energy balance.

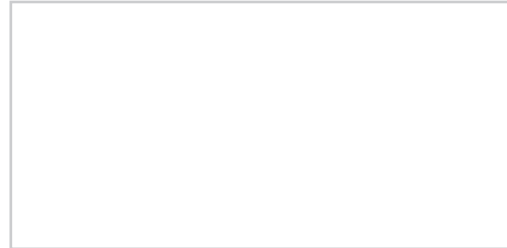

Direction zone – firm

Provides direction, stability and excellent movement control. Gives the heel solid-footing and the necessary orientation.

Motion is Life.

Step by Step by Step.

Whether during active, everyday life, free time or playing sports: Perseverance, Power and Performance are determined last, but not least, by the feet. What's good for the feet is good for the person – one is simply better able to work under pressure and cope with physical demands.

The increasing number of active people requires greater measures to be taken regarding foot health. Because:

- The vast majority of people already have foot problems.
- With higher activity in everyday life or sports come extreme pressure and torsion forces on the foot and joints.
- The danger: early fatigue and pain.

Therefore we are giving the foot our special attention.

With 3-zone-insoles from Bauerfeind.

TRiactiverun
